would be the same if I were not acquaint ed with all the circumstances of this case.

It this man had merely thrown a door mat at his wife I would be the last to claim that she was justified in leaving him. If he had knocked her downstairs

The Judge hegan to show some signs of astonishment. "But, your Honor," continued the lawyer, "there are occasions when it is absurd to expect any human being to live with a man. There are times when it would be impossible for the most angelic creature that ever lived to exist in the same house with a ma and I expect to show that such was the case in this instance—."

The Judge motioned the attorney to "Intimates that you have been trying to wear off smoking. It is true?"

"It is, your Honor."
"Case dismissed, sald the Judge, sharp
